Journal of Microbiology and Infectious Diseases (JMID) is a peer-reviewed medical journal and published four times a year (March, June, September and December)

JMID is indexed/abstracted in EBSCO, CrossRef, Index Copernicus, Google Scholar and Turk Medline

Copyright © Journal of Microbiology and Infectious Diseases 2021, All rights reserved

Publishing Date: December 2021

INSTRUCTIONS FOR AUTHORS

All manuscripts should be prepared as appropriate for Uniform Requirements for manuscripts submitted to Biomedical Journals (<http://www.icmje.org/>). All submitted manuscripts must be contributed solely to the Journal of Microbiology and Infectious Diseases, and at the same time, they should not be under consideration for publication elsewhere. A copyright transfer statement must be signed by all authors and accompany each submission.

Ethical Considerations

Manuscripts submitted for publication must contain a statement indicating that all prospective human studies have been approved by the Ethics Committee and have therefore been performed according to the ethical standards of the 2008 Declaration of Helsinki. It should also be clearly stated that all persons gave informed consent prior to their inclusion in the study. In addition, studies involving animals must have the animal ethics committee approval and be conducted in accordance with the care and use of laboratory animals standards.

Copyright agreement

All submitted materials become the property of the Journal of Microbiology and Infectious Diseases. If a submission is accepted for publication, authors will sign a copyright transfer agreement. Copyright transfer agreement signed by all authors can be sent to the Journal through e-mail in a PDF file or could be uploaded through the journal website. The transfer agreement form should be sent to the Publication office just after the acceptance of the manuscript. The Publisher reserves the copyright. Materials published in the Journal of Microbiology and Infectious Diseases may not be reproduced or published elsewhere without the Publisher's written permission.

Manuscript preparation

Manuscripts should be arranged in the following order; Title page, Abstracts, Keywords, Introduction, Materials and Methods, Results, Discussion, Acknowledgements, References, Tables, Figure Legends, Figures. All of these sections should run consecutively. The use of subheads is encouraged. The Journal of Microbiology and Infectious Diseases will consider the publication of manuscripts dealing with clinical or laboratory investigations, including original investigations, case reports, invited reviews, letters to the editor, and clinical images in the scope of the Journal. The JMID publishes original research papers, review articles, letters to the editor, case reports, research notes, and guidance documents covering different aspects of human, animal, and environmental microbiology and infectious diseases. The Journal is particularly interested in papers regarding emerging and re-emerging etiological agents, diagnosis, epidemiology, and public health. Animal or in vitro research will also be considered. All manuscripts are subjected to peer review. Manuscripts should be written in English.

Abstract

An abstract consists of 250 words or less, describing the aims, results obtained from presented data, and conclusions. The abstract should be written in a structured manner, including Objectives, Materials and Methods, Results, and Conclusions subheadings.

Keywords

Up to five keywords should be supplied following the abstract. The keywords should reflect the article's central topic and should be incompatible with Medical Subject Headings (MeSH).

References

References should be numbered consecutively in the order of their appearance in the text and listed in numerical order. Journal titles should be abbreviated according to Index Medicus. The name of all authors should be written in the References if six or fewer authors exist, and the first three authors and et al. should be given if the number of authors exceeds six. References with correct punctuation should be as follows:
